Circumstances may require us to give up many of the luxuries, and even the comforts, to which we have been accustomed but there can be no excuse for not providing ourselves and those dependent on us with a remedy for those insidious attacks of disease to which all are liable. WASHINGTON.

The Electoral Votes Counted in Joint Session.

EDMUNDS DECLARES THE RESULT

He also Enters a Disclaimer which Provokes a Discussion as to Precedents—Regular Congressional Proceedings

House

WASHINGTON, Feb 11.—On motion of Keifer, the clerk of the house was directed to inform the senate that at 12 o'clock the house would be prepared to receive that body in conformity with the provisions of a concurrent resolution relating to counting the electoral votes.

At a few moments before 12 o'clock the speaker pro tem requested the members to clear the two first rows of seats for the accommodation of senators. At precisely 12 the senate of the United States was announced, and headed by Mr Edmunds and officers of that body, the senators filed in and took the seats assigned them, the president of the senate seating himself by Acting Speaker Blackburn.

Edmunds, in calling the assembly to order, said: "The two houses of congress have met in pursuance of the constitution and laws, and a concurrent resolution for the purpose of executing the duty required by the constitution and laws, in the matter of counting the electoral vote for president and vice-president of the United States, cast by the electors of the several states for the term commencing March 4, 1885. The tellers appointed by the two houses will please take their places."

Senators Hoar and Pendleton and representatives Clay and Kiefer having taken their places at the clerk's desk, Edmunds said: "The president of the senate will open the certificates of the several states, in alphabetical order."

The call of states then proceeded alphabetically. When New York was reached the certificate was read by Clay of Kentucky, and as some vague rumors were in the air this morning that trouble would be made over counting the vote of New York, a murmur of relief went up when Clay finished reading, and announced that the certificate of the electors was certified by Grover Cleveland Governor. A slight manifestation of applause was promptly suppressed by Edmunds, who ordered the sergeant-at-arms to arrest any gentleman or other person who disturbed the order of these proceedings by applause or other manifestation.

The call of states then proceeded.

THE RESULT ANNOUNCED.

When the count was ended the presiding officer of the senate announced that "Grover Cleveland and Thomas A. Hendricks have received a majority of the electoral votes for the respective offices of president and vice-president of the United States." The declaration, he said was made only as a public statement in the presence of the two houses of congress, and not as possessing any authority of law to declare any legal conclusions whatever.

When the vote was declared the immense audience broke into applause and cheers, which the presiding officer attempted to suppress, but with little success. The senate then retired to its chamber, and the house took a recess for fifteen minutes.

THE HOUSE CALLED TO ORDER.

On the house being called to order, Keifer offered a resolution reciting the result of the joint convention of the two houses, and declaring it the sense of the house that the constitution and laws had been duly executed, and that no further declaration of these facts is necessary.

Springer said it seemed from the announcement of the presiding officer of the joint convention that there was no declaration of the vote, which was contrary to all precedent. The vice president has simply declared that it appeared from the count made by the tellers that Grover Cleveland received a certain number of votes, but had disclaimed any intention to make any official declaration of the result of that vote. He referred that the matter should be referred to the judiciary committee, with instructions to report such resolution as may be necessary for the purpose of making known the result of the election.

Speaker pro tem.—The presiding officer of the joint convention, in making the announcement of the votes, announced the result that had been found, and simply added a disclaimer of any authority on his part as presiding officer of the senate or joint convention to make any declaration at all.

Springer—I move that the whole matter be referred to the judiciary committee.

The speaker—In the judgment of the chair the declaration made by the presiding officer was exactly what it should have been.

Springer—I have not asked the speaker for his opinion. I desire to state my own.

The speaker—The chair, acting as an officer representing the house in joint convention, would have made a protest if any improper declaration by the presiding officer had been delivered.

Randall said the vote of the electors had been announced, and that any ministerial proceedings was not essential to maintain the fact that Grover Cleveland had been elected.

Hammond thought that the joint convention having made its declaration, the house had nothing further to do with it.

Springer withdrew his motion, and Cox, stating the constitution declared who had been elected president and vice president, moved to lay the resolution on the table, agreed to, yeas 1[illegible]3, nays 115.

A RESOLUTION OFFERED

Clay then offered the following concurrent resolution:

Resolved, That two members of the house of representatives be appointed by the house and one member of the senate be appointed by that body to wait on Cleveland and notify him that he has been duly elected president of the United States for the four years commencing the 4th of March 1885 and also to notify Hendricks that he has been duly elected vice president of the United States for the four years commencing with the 4th of March 188[illegible].

Second—That the president of the senate do make out and sign a certificate in the words following: "Certificate of election. Be it known that the senate and the house of representatives being convened in the city of Washington on the second Wednesday of February in the year of our Lord 1885, the president of the senate pro tempore did, in the presence of said senate and the house of representatives open all the certificates and all the votes of election for president and vice president of the United States which were then counted in the presence of the two houses, whereupon it appeared that Grover Cleveland of the state of New York had a majority of the votes of electors for president, and Thomas A. Hendricks of the state of Indiana had a majority of the votes of electors for vice president, by all of which it appears that Grover Cleveland of the state of New York has been duly elected president and Thomas A. Hendricks of the state of Indiana has been duly elected vice president of the United States agreeable to the constitution, for the next four years beginning the 4th of March 1885. In witness whereof I have herewith set my hand this ... day of February 1885 and have sealed with the seal of the senate."

Third—That the committee hereby appointed ... the person so elected of the ... [illegible] ... shall present to each of them a duly authenticated copy of the foregoing certificate.

Clay said this resolution was within all precedents, except as to the last two presidential elections.

On suggestion of Cox, of New York, the resolution was modified so as to make the committee consist of three representatives and two senators.

Keifer said the resolution was wholly unnecessary.

Holman moved to amend by striking out all that part of the resolution having reference to the certificate of election. Agreed to without division.

The resolution, as amended, was agreed to.

REGULAR BUSINESS

The house then resumed consideration of business under special rule.

On motion of McCord the bill passed for the erection of a public building at Keokuk, Iowa, limited to cost $1[illegible]0,000.

The house then went into committee of the whole, Springer in the chair, on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Horr offered an amendment increasing from $410,000 to $4,585,000 the appropriation for the letter-carrier system. Horr's amendment was agreed to, 100 to 64.

Skinner of New York offered an amendment providing that letter carriers may be appointed when public business demanded it, in places where the population was not less than 10,000 and when the gross revenue at such offices amounted to $10,000, or in several places near to each other where the aggregate population was 10,000 and the gross revenue not less than $10,000.

Pending action the committee rose and the house adjourned.

Senate

At 1 25 P. M. the senators returned to the senate chamber, and the president pro tem of the body having resumed the chair, the tellers on the part of the senate, Hoar and Pendleton, appeared, and on their behalf Hoar reported the result of the electoral count.

When the tellers' report was completed the president of the senate repeated, verbatim the closing sentence of the announcement made by him in the house of representatives relating to the declaration of the vote.

Conger said he desired, as one of the members of the senate, to say that he entirely dissented from the declaration that the president of the senate or the vice president had no other power in announcing that vote than to announce the fact, and he did not know by what authority the sentence quoted had been made a part of the declaration.

Sherman said: "I also wish to put on record my opinion on this question that the declaration made was the declaration of the gentleman who presided on that occasion, expressing his own opinion, and should not be taken as a precedent, except so far as it may command the judgment of mankind."

After remarks by Hoar, Ingham, Wilson and Ingalls on the subject, Edmunds said he regarded the senate as in no way responsible for the declaration made by him. He had performed his constitutional duty, and had, on his own responsibility, made the declaration referred to.

A resolution offered by Ingalls, declaring the senate does not assent to Edmunds' declaration, went over until to-morrow, as did a resolution by Hoar approving his course.

REGULAR BUSINESS

The senate resumed consideration of the bill to repeal the pre-emption and timber culture laws. Several amendments to the verbiage of the bill were made, and others relating to various general features of the land laws not before affected by the bill were proposed.

Slater opposed the bill. He said the proposition to repeal the pre-emption law was monstrous. Greater prosperity had come under operation of this law than of the homestead law. He would entitle the pending bill "an act to facilitate the sale of land of land-grant corporations." There had been evils under the pre-emption law, but they were not such as would be remedied by its repeal. Within the past twenty five or thirty years the west has been covered with land grants. No longer in several states could homesteaders get lands, yet land-grant roads had abundance of land for sale. It was said 160 acres was enough for a farm. It was enough in such a state as Iowa, but in the great west more is necessary for a farmer to be successful in making a home. Under the homestead and pre-emption laws a settler could secure 320 acres. Slater would, however, be willing to repeal the timber culture and desert acts. The bill was reported to the senate, and some amendments rejected in committee of the whole referred. Pending their discussion the senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

Illinois Democrats Foiled by the Republicans.

RUSSELL SAGE AT THE TOMBS

O'Donovan Rossa's Assailant in Court—Thirteen Men Killed by an Explosion of Gas in a Coal Mine—Etc

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Feb 11.—After some roll calls, including a call of the house on which republicans did not vote and 56 democrats did, Hamilton moved to proceed to elect a United States senator. Speaker Haines refused to entertain a point of order that no quorum was present and ordered the clerk to proceed with the roll call, which resulted: Morrison 46, Haines 1, Richard Bishop 1. Morgan of Will county voted for Haines, on the ground that he could not vote for a free trader. Haines voted for Bishop. During the roll call the republicans left their seats. The house democrats voted to invite the senate to joint session at noon and then took a recess.

The senate met with 7 republicans and 3 democrats absent. The republicans broke the quorum, when Senator Merritt moved to adjourn until 11 30, carried. The senate reconvened, and the democrats tried to have the clerk of the house recognized, but the president ruled that he could recognize no one without a quorum. A few minutes before 12 o'clock the democrats arose in a body and marched over to the house. The remaining senators carried a motion to adjourn.

When the senators and representatives had assembled Haines said as he understood the law it made no difference whether a quorum was present or not. The law was imperative that a vote should be taken. The roll call resulted: Senate, Morrison 22; house, Morrison 52, Haines 1. Morgan voted for Haines, and Haines voted for Morrison. The democrats applauded when Haines' vote was announced. Haines announced no quorum and no election, and that balloting would be resumed at noon to-morrow. The senators then left.

THE GOVERNMENT PAYING OUT SILVER

NEW YORK, Feb 11.—A Washington special says: A report reached the treasury department yesterday that in paying the New York clearing house balance, the assistant treasurer there had, for the first time, paid part of the amount in silver certificates. Secretary McCulloch said he was satisfied the New York clearing house would accept silver certificates, when the assistant treasurer at New York so requested. No order had been issued on the subject whatever. This action, said the secretary, is discretionary with the assistant treasurer. He would only say further that the treasury department and the New York clearing house are entirely in harmony. There is no fear that their relations will be disturbed.

The Herald says: "The United States sub-treasury in New York has at last begun to settle its obligations to the banks through the clearing house in silver certificates in place of gold notes and other legal tenders. The sub-treasury was debtor to the clearing house Monday $3,350,27[illegible]. About one-third of this was forwarded to Manager Camp at the clearing house in silver certificates, and the remainder in the usual legal tenders."

WHERE THE GOLD GOES

NEW YORK, Feb 11.—The Tribune, in an editorial, says: "Burchard's investigation into the amount of gold used in American arts and manufactures leads to some startling inferences. He sent inquiries to nearly 8000 persons and firms and replies were received from a little over two-thirds. They report the amount of gold used at $14,500,000. Burchard estimates the world's consumption in 1881 at $75,000,000. The total production of all the world last year appears to have been less than $90,000,000. This would leave a slender supply for coinage and for the whole world's loss and wear of coins in circulation. These considerations make it clear that the United States should not longer persist in preventing an international agreement as to coinage by continuing to coin silver, for which it has no present use. The sooner other nations are compelled to seriously consider the question of coinage in the light of the recent decrease in the production of gold, and late evidence as to its annual consumption, the better for all commercial countries."

RUSSELL SAGE AT THE TOMBS.

NEW YORK, Feb 11.—Russell Sage the "money king," was at the Tombs police court this afternoon in response to a message sent him stating that John S. Purdy, a broker, had filed complaint against him for obtaining money from him under false pretenses. The papers in the case show that Purdy placed $1700 with Sage for the purchase of Manhattan railway stock. This was in 1880. One hundred shares were purchased at $40 each, and shortly after another purchase at $44 75 was made of 100 shares, plus the usual commission. Purdy instructed Sage not to sell the stock until October 23, 1881. Meantime the stock fell off in value. Purdy had several interviews with Sage, in which the latter assured him the stock would pull through all right. When he called, October 24, 1881, Sage informed him he had sold the stock long. It was then worth $54 a share.

THE NORTHWESTERN STORM

CHICAGO, Feb 11.—The mercury here registered eighteen degrees below zero at 8 o'clock this morning, but reports from points throughout the northwest indicate that the weather is moderating rapidly. St. Paul is reported eight below and Winnipeg nineteen below. Des Moines reports from points in Iowa state trains, both passenger and freight, are beginning to move again this morning. In Illinois, however, the blockade still continues. Two trains only left for the east this morning. Roads to the southeast are still blocked and a large number of passenger and freight trains are snow bound. The statement is made that thousands of cattle and hogs are frozen to death in abandoned freight trains.

TERRIBLE MINE ACCIDENT

Thirteen Coal Miners Killed by an Explosion of Gas in Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, Feb 11.—Last night an explosion occurred in the pit of Vale Colliery at Westville, Pictou county. The heavy storm of yesterday and last night seriously interfered with telegraphic service, and little more than the bare fact that a casualty occurred can be obtained. It is rumored in this city that one hundred men were in the mine at the time, but it is reported from New Glasgow that the people there heard of only fifteen being down. The latter report is likely to be nearer the truth, as New Glasgow is only seven miles distant from Westville. Whether the men are alive or dead is unknown at present. Fire broke out immediately after the explosion and men have gone down into the pit to attempt to get the flames under control.

PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., Feb 11.—Twenty two men were in the Vale colliery at the time of the explosion. Thirteen perished. The others were taken out alive, some of them badly injured. Most of the victims have large families. The scene was heartrending around the mouth of the shaft as the cages came up from below with dead miners. The explosion took place about 200 feet from the surface. The managers of the mine and others attribute it to a sudden opening or coming upon a heavy feeder of gas, which rushing out was at once ignited by lamps in the caps of the men. Mr Greener explained that the men used only ordinary lamps because of the entire absence of suspicion of the existence of gas in that locality. When the day shift left the mine there was not the slightest indication of gas and the horrible event that so soon followed was to all the greatest shock.

The superintendent says the Vale seams have been operated since 1871, at first a six foot seam and latterly a second eight foot seam. During all that time no accident of any moment has occurred, except ten years ago, when a cage containing a number of men broke loose, killing six. The mine was owned by a Montreal company. The wounded are doing well.

TROUBLE AT THE FAIR.

Indignant Exhibitors Denounce the Management for not Providing Tickets

NEW ORLEANS, Feb 11.—Last week the management of the world's exposition notified exhibitors that after Monday temporary passes heretofore used would not be good, but could be exchanged for new ones at the proper office. Holders of passes state that they called at Mullen's office, and were informed that the permanent passes were not ready, but the old ones would hold good until the new were issued. On Monday the exhibitors were told they would have to provide themselves with new passes next day. A rush was made by exhibitors for the installation office, and a few succeeded in obtaining passes, but others were unsuccessful. Yesterday notice was given by the management that passes could be obtained at a down town office, but when exhibitors called they were informed the tickets were not ready, and they paid their way into the grounds.

This treatment of exhibitors resulted in a demonstration last evening, when a meeting was held and the management indignantly denounced. Those present agreed to meet at the main entrance at 9.30 this morning.

At this hour 250 persons assembled there, including a number of women and girls, who had been kept shivering in the cold, as many of them had no money and others refused to pay. At 10 o'clock about 300 exhibitors forced their way into the grounds, the gatekeepers having refused them admission, saying they were acting under orders. Some exhibitors paid their way to-day, while others came down town rather than take part in the demonstration.

This evening the exhibitors held another meeting in the main building, not as the exhibitors' association but as a number of indignant persons who had been unreasonably delayed in obtaining that which was justly their due. A committee was finally appointed to wait upon the management, who in their own defense say the delay was unavoidable and promise immediate adjustment. At one time a serious riot was threatened.

MRS. DUDLEY BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT

NEW YORK, Feb 11.—Mrs. Lucille Yseult Dudley, who shot O'Donovan Rossa, was to-day taken to the supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus obtained yesterday by her counsel. The court room was thronged with spectators. Her counsel claimed that as she had not been convicted of any offense she should be released from confinement and admitted to bail.

Counsel for the prosecution argued that Mrs. Dudley was held to await Rossa's ability to appear against her as a witness.

Counsel for the accused said that the writ had been applied for because it had been publicly stated that Rossa did not himself propose to prosecute the woman. Physicians had admitted that Rossa had said he was able to appear and testify, and there was no reason why the examination should not proceed. Mrs. Dudley felt that she ought to be informed who her accuser was.

Counsel for the prosecution stated that he assumed that the people would take the usual course in this case for assault upon the street.

Judge Donahue declared he would not interfere with the police magistrate in the matter.

Counsel for the prosecution then asked to have the writ dismissed and prisoner remanded, and Judge Donahue granted the request.

Mrs. Dudley's counsel stated that he would apply immediately to the police magistrate to have an examination or for the release of prisoner.

MARAUDING MEXICANS KILL SEVERAL MEN

SAN ANTONIO, Feb 11.—A rumor is current this evening that Sheriff Oglesby and captains Hall and Shelby were killed, and several citizens wounded, in Dimmit county, by Mexican marauders, who recrossed the Rio Grande with increased force Tuesday night, to avenge the death of their fourteen comrades, killed near Carrizo Springs last week. Another report says that Oglesby and Shelby were killed outright and Captain Lee Hall had a leg shot off. Details state that while the three officers were riding at the head of forty armed men, the citizens' command was suddenly ambushed. If these rumors prove true, a battle must have followed, but no confirmation or details are obtainable. Telephone wires at distant points are not working. A telegram from Cotulla says Hall left there with twenty men to scour Dimmit county. Nothing has been heard from them. There is great anxiety along the borders concerning the news of the expeditions, and feeling against the raiders is intense.

A BIG THIEF CAPTURED

CHICAGO, Feb 10.—Joe Howard alias Kilrain, who was arrested by the Pinkertons in Philadelphia Saturday, and held to await a requisition from the governor of Michigan to-day, is wanted for robbing the first national bank of Coldwater of $10,000 worth of diamonds and considerable cash in 1881. He was assisted by Eddie Quinn, a Chicago sneak thief, and two others. The robbery was done during banking hours while the cashier was in the bank. The robbers stood off the sheriff and his assistant with revolvers, and escaped. Howard is one of the most daring bank robbers in the country, and was concerned in the coolly perpetrated bank robberies of Waterford, New York; Barre, Vermont; Kensington, the Catholic savings bank of Philadelphia, and the first national of Wilmington, Delaware. He belongs to a good New York family.

EXAMINATION OF SCHWAB

NEW YORK, Feb 10.—The examination of Justus Schwab, the notorious socialist, was continued at the Essex Market court to-day. Schwab declined to swear by "the ever living God." He gave evidence on his "word of honor," and denied having done anything to incite a riot at a meeting of socialists. He did not strike Police Captain McCullagh, he said, but on the contrary, did all he could to restore order out of chaos. He believed Captain McCullagh was responsible for most of the disorder.

ROSSA'S ASSAILANT

NEW YORK, Feb 10.—Judge Donahue of the supreme court to-day granted a writ of habeas corpus requiring the warden of the Tombs to produce Yseult Dudley, who shot O'Donovan Rossa, in court to-morrow. Mrs. Dudley wants to be bailed or have immediate examination.

Slight Hope Entertained that Gordon May be be Alive—Another Cabinet Meeting—England's Action Sharply Criticised

LONDON, Feb 11.—Lord Wolseley telegraphs the government that scouts sent to Khartoum have returned. They confirm the report of the killing of General Gordon and the atrocities committed in Khartoum by El Mahdi's men.

The war office refuses officially to confirm the dispatch which states that General Wolseley telegraphed the government that spies sent to Khartoum to ascertain the fate of General Gordon, have returned with proof of his death.

STILL HOPE FOR GORDON

There is still slight ground for hoping that Gordon is still alive. The accounts of newspaper correspondents all come from a common native source. No witness of the death of General Gordon is mentioned. With General Gordon were Banzel, Austrian vice consul, and twenty Greeks and Levantine merchants. A firm at Alexandria for whom the Greeks had been acting as agents do not believe the story of the massacre at Khartoum. It is known that El Mahdi holds fifty Greek prisoners in camp at El Obeid, and that they are well treated. In reply to inquiries General Wolseley telegraphs he has no more authentic news than that brought to Korti by Colonel Wilson.

Up to midnight Wednesday the government had no official advices confirming the report of General Gordon's death.

GENERAL GORDON'S PRESENTIMENT

General Gordon before his departure on the mission to the Soudan, told a personal friend, who now makes the story public that he entertained a presentiment that he would never return from Khartoum. Gordon said the presentiment was distinct and intense, and he could not push it off. Throughout his entire life, he said, he had always been strongly and correctly affected by presentiments. During his military career in China he was guided by them, but never, even in the most critical moments of that eventful period, had he ever expected death. The friend also asserts that in pursuance of his belief in the presentiment which covered him with its shadow before he started for Khartoum, General Gordon actually bestowed upon his chosen friends all his trinkets and mementoes.

GENERAL EARLE KILLED AT BIRTI

LONDON, Feb. 12.—General Earle was killed Tuesday during the storming of the enemy's position at Birti.

The Standard's correspondent with General Earle's column sends the following dispatch, dated Dulka island, Tuesday: "The British troops advanced to attack the enemy, who had a strong position on the hills. After some fighting the enemy were completely surrounded. Finding it impossible to dislodge the rebels from their fortified position, General Earle ordered the troops to charge. General Earle was killed while leading the attack. The Black Watch regiment captured the position at the point of the bayonet, cavalry taking possession of the enemy's camp. General Brackenbury, upon the fall of General Earle, assumed command, and ordered the remaining positions of the enemy to be stormed. The troops acted promptly, made a gallant attack and soon captured all the enemy's positions. The fighting lasted five hours. There was great slaughter among the enemy. Those who survived escaped by swimming the river."

WAR NOTES

It is announced that a narrow gauge railway will be constructed between Suakem and Berber. English firms offer to undertake the construction of the road within a fortnight, by use of manufactured sections of rail lengths.

The government has decided to accept the temporary services of a limited number of officers of the militia and reserve forces.

SIR SAMUEL BAKER'S OPINION

Sir Samuel Baker writes that he believes Khartoum had already fallen when the battles of Abu Klea and Gakdul were fought. He says the treachery which caused the fall of the city originated among traders, who being absolutely ruined by England's policy of abandonment, wisely sought El Mahdi's protection. Sir Samuel urges a new expedition, to consist of 12,000 men, and that all converge at Berber which would make a base that could be supplied from Suakem. Continuing he says: "If the present imbecile government delays any longer, the splendid army in the Soudan will be paralyzed by hot weather. England should let Italians occupy Kasala, relieving the present gallant garrison at that place and retaining the country from Massowah to the Atbara river." He asks how long England will stand the present terrible misgovernment.

THE CABINET MEETING

The cabinet to-day approved General Wolseley's plan for an early advance from Suakem to Berber. A narrow gauge railroad will be laid to Ariab, thirty miles west of Suakem, where an entrenched camp will be formed, with a central depot for stores. Leaving Ariab, the troops will proceed by forced marches to Berber. It is calculated the advance will begin about the third week in March, and it is hoped Berber will be reached in six weeks. Ariab, where the entrenched camp will be formed, is on the road from Suakem to Berber, and is described as a "smiling oasis," where there is good pasturage and plenty of water.

The cabinet is divided on the subject of the agreement in relation to Egyptian finances made by Earl Granville, minister of foreign affairs, and Premier Ferry. A majority of the members approve the measure. Premier Ferry will communicate the agreement in a formal note to the powers, and it will be submitted to parliament as soon as that body shall meet. Its ratification is doubtful.

ITALY'S GOOD OFFICES

ROME, Feb 11.—Negotiations between the British and Italian governments with a view to Italian co-operation in the Soudan, still proceed. Chevalier Negra, Italian ambassador at London has been instructed to assure Lord Granville, British foreign secretary, of the confidence that Italy has in the power of England to crush the rebellion in the Soudan, and reorganize Egypt, and to state that Italy is willing to occupy with her troops strategic posts, so as to enable England to mass her forces against those of El Mahdi.

THE TURKS EXULT

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb 11.—The population is exultant over the fall of Khartoum. On the other hand, the government expresses great anxiety over the disasters in the Soudan, fearing El Mahdi's success will lead to a serious movement in El Hejaz, Arabia, where he has many followers.

DE LESSEPS'S OPINION.

PARIS, Feb 11.—De Lesseps, in an interview considered the English expedition doomed to failure. It may reach Khartoum, but the Soudanese will not submit. The English, in going or returning, will fall a prey to hundreds of thousands of fanatics, who are ready to die.

SOUDAN NEWS PROHIBITED

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb 11.—Turkish newspapers have been officially prohibited from publishing news from the Soudan, or commenting upon the situation there.

Besides his political friends there were many gentlemen present who represent important interests in the state.

STATE DISPATCHES.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

ALBANY, Or., Feb 11.—This morning about 5 o'clock Thomas McNary attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a dull pocket knife in room No. 25 at the Exchange hotel. He has lived about Albany at intervals for the past eight years. Last year he stopped at Yaquina, and during the past few months has been with Robinson & West's logging crew. Since the drive was finished and the hands paid off, two weeks ago, he has been on a continued drunk, and the rash deed this morning is but the result of an attack of the tremens. After the cutting he jumped from his bed and ran several blocks, when he was caught by night watch Brown and taken back. Drs. Wallace and Maston were summoned and gave the necessary assistance. The cut was found to be very severe, the windpipe being severed, and will undoubtedly result in his death.

STATE TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.

SALEM, Feb 11.—The Oregon State Temperance alliance assembled at 10 30. The address of welcome was made by Professor Van Scoy, and the response by Rev. S. P. Wilson of East Portland. The afternoon was spent in a vain effort to elect a president. At 8 P. M. Professor Miller received 93 votes, and was declared elected for the ensuing year. Sixty votes were cast for T. J. Wilson. These votes indicate the number of delegates present. The election of Miller was a victory of the anti-Watts element.

COLFAX, Feb 11.—At half-past 1 this morning fire broke out in Frank McDonough's furniture store, destroying the building and contents, also an adjoining dwelling belonging to H. Liddle's loss is $800, partially insured. The fire company did good service.

YAKIMA NOTES

NORTH YAKIMA, Feb 10.

A Chinaman was knocked down by a team on the Kennewick incline on Tuesday night, and had one of his legs broken. His injuries are not considered serious.

A Chinese contractor was mobbed by some of his employes on the platform at Pasco on Tuesday and narrowly escaped a thrashing. Cause, arrears in their wages.

The new store of Nelson Bennett is now ready for occupation. It is two stories in height and will carry the largest stock between the Columbia river and the Cascades range.

Six hacks are now making good wages in carrying passengers between the old town and the new one at four bits per head. The trains run through the west end of the old town at full speed.

The Guilland house is being moved out to the new town at the rate of a block a day, and will be there in time for the big celebration on decoration day. The contractor is from Portland and thinks he has struck an all-summer job.

A pagan boss got into one of the gaming hells in old Yakima the other day and won $25 on one hand at poker of the entire horse persuasion. And now the sporting fraternity are raising the cry of "We are ruined by Chinese cheap labor."

An ill looking fellow named George Black was arrested at Ainsworth on Sunday night, charged with having robbed a woman of $130. He is one of a gang of tin-horn "sports" that infest the new town. Sheriff Tyler went down on Tuesday to bring him back.

A great scarcity of lumber prevails in the new town and materially retards the growth of the place. This is said to be owing to the fact that the Montana Improvement Company have a special rate to that place which is denied to the lumber dealers of Oregon.

A gambler, who lives with a woman of the town at old Yakima, was beaten over the head with a beer bottle by his paramour on Sunday night and came near bleeding to death. Dr. Hill attended him and he is out of danger. Cause—the green-eyed lobster.

A dancing party was given on Monday night at the residence of Charles Schanno, Esq., in honor of Hon. R. B. Kinne, who leaves shortly for the eastern states. His successor, who arrived from Missouri several days ago, has already qualified and entered upon his official duties.

From sixty to eighty arrivals per day are noted at the new town, but the want of sleeping accommodations drives them back to the old one.

Several attachment suits have been begun against the lumbering and manufacturing firm of Jones, Hill & Co., but as the company has considerable property and accounts they take it easy.

General Christopher Taylor came near having a serious accident yesterday as he came into town. The king bolt of his buggy gave way and threw him to the ground in front of the vehicle. A gentle horse he was driving prevented an ugly runaway, the seriousness of which would be hard to surmise. As it was his injuries were slight.

The Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 12, 188[illegible]

THE HISTORY OF IT

The [illegible] of THE OREGONIAN [illegible] the question whether the government of the United States is a national government or a federal government [illegible]. It is both a federal and a national government. The people of the United States made the government for national purposes and made it [illegible] the states [illegible] federal union. But though it is [illegible], it is no less than national. The constitution was created, in the language of Washington, "to consolidate the union;" in the language of Jackson, "to form a government, not a league."

Men are often misled by terms and labels. There has been a widespread belief that because the government was federal it could not be national, and that because it is a federal union it was only a league of states—and here was the root of the dispute that led to the great rebellion. But in fact federal and national have been synonymous in our system since the adoption of the constitution. The strongest proof of it is presented in the historical fact that the party which claimed for the government the highest national authority—the party with which Washington was associated and of which Hamilton and Adams and Patrick Henry were leaders—called itself the federal party.

This federal or national party held and administered the government during the first twelve years of its existence. During the presidency of John Adams—1797-1801—an opposition party was created, under the lead of Jefferson, which disputed the principles asserted by the federal or national party as to the authority and powers of the general government, and set up in their stead the claim that the government was only a league of states. To sustain this view Jefferson wrote the resolutions of 1798, in which he put forth the doctrine that the Union was a mere "compact" between the states; that "the government created by this compact was not the final judge of the extent of the powers delegated to itself, but that, as in all other cases of compact among powers having no common judge, each party had a right to judge for itself, as well of infractions as of the mode and measure of redress."

The party that declared this doctrine got possession of the government. At first it called itself the republican party, but after some years it dropped this name, and has since been known as the democratic party. Its interpretation of the powers of the government was utterly destructive of national authority, but it held to them tenaciously, asserted and reasserted them, and through all our history has been known as the party of state rights and state sovereignty. Jackson, in his proclamation against South Carolina nullification in 183[illegible], did, indeed, take high national ground; but this only checked for the time the tendency of the principles of the party. The great rebellion of 1861-65 was the next direct and inevitable consequence. Most of the democratic states seceded from the Union, setting forth as their complete and only necessary justification the doctrine of the resolutions of 1798, which, as affirmed and re-affirmed through many years by the democratic party, fully authorized the states to withdraw from a "compact," to which they were bound to adhere no longer than interest or inclination might require. According to the doctrine of the democratic party there had been "infractions" of the "compact"—chief of which was the election to the presidency of a man whom the democratic states did not want,—and those states thereupon proceeded to judge each for itself "the mode and measure of redress." Secession was the mode and measure.

The great rebellion, then, was merely a vigorous assertion of the principles of the democratic party, and a logical effort to carry them out. Thus it is that history identifies the democratic party with the rebellion, associates it with the confederate idea of government as against the national idea, and shows why the country rejected it continuously during so many years.

What the war did was to suppress the confederate idea of the nature and powers of the general government. It has cut the old "state compact" theory of the government from under the feet of the democratic party. In the overthrow of the southern confederacy was involved the overthrow of the dogmas that gave the democratic party from the day of its birth its whole vitality and distinctive character. As a party it had no active principle that did not lead to and center in the rebellion, and its sympathy with the rebellion was the historical sequence, the logical necessity, of its position.

As the war suppressed the confederate idea, it ought also to have killed the party that upheld it, and it would have killed it but for the system of outrage in southern elections by which the confederacy has been kept alive—though it dares no longer to assert the confederate idea,—and by which the democratic or confederate party has been encouraged to hope that through the solid south it could yet rule the country. This hope—owing to the fact that many in the northern or national states were so unwise as to ignore in the last election the national principles that underlie this long struggle—is now to be realized. Hence the southern confederacy will rule the country for the next four years, though out of prudence it will not openly assert the old confederate idea of government.

BURNABY AND GORDON

In the death of Gordon and Burnaby the English army loses two of its most gallant soldiers. The history and character of Gordon are pretty familiar to all English readers. He belonged not to this century so much as to the past ages of religious wars. He was like the soldiers of Cromwell's time, who went into battle with the high praises of God on their tongues and two-edged swords in their hands. Burnaby also, though not a religious enthusiast, had the essential characteristics of a hero. His personality made him a striking figure, for he stood six feet six inches high, barefooted, and measured nearly fifty inches around the chest. Wonderful tales are told of his strength and endurance. He had royal blood in his veins, being the nineteenth in descent from Edward the First, surnamed Longshanks from his extraordinary length of limb. He was a worthy representative of his heroic royal ancestor both in lofty stature, personal prowess, courage and military talent. The Plantagenets were not always wise kings, but from Richard Lion Heart down to Richard Third, who was slain while fighting hand to hand on Bosworth field, they were all, save King John and Edward Second, gallant soldiers and stout champions in battle.

In 1875-6 Burnaby executed his daring "Ride to Khiva," which perhaps is the most adventurous journey on record. Literally, during that mem[illegible] ride, he carried his life in his hand; for not only was he exposed to the hardships of an Asiatic Russian midwinter, but the government of the czar had strictly forbidden foreigners to be admitted into the Khivan territory.

In addition to his renown as a traveler and soldier he was well known as a graphic writer, and as a skillful and daring aeronaut. He was but 43 years of age when he fell in a hand to hand fight with the fierce Arabs, clutching by the throat the man whose spear had given him his death wound. It was as melancholy a sacrifice as it was to see Custer, the best cavalry leader of the army of the Potomac, fall in battle with the savage Sioux under Sitting Bull. Gordon fell a victim to the treachery of the Arabs, whom he had organized into an army. His religion partook of the fantastic character of his Mohammedan soldiers and enemies, and, like the gallant Burnaby, he knew what the old prophet meant by the "joy of battle."

The action of Italy in assisting England in the present Egyptian campaign has aroused the bile of the great German chancellor and kindled another of the sparks that are likely to be fanned into a general European flame before many months. France looks on with a jealous eye at both England and Italy, while its government and that of Germany are brought into closer relationship by the moves now closely following each other on the European political chess board.

THE EGYPTIAN SITUATION

The affairs in Egypt have now reached a point where decisive action must be taken at once, and the English government has decided [illegible]. Troops will be sent from India, from Mediterranean garrisons and from England. Instead of following the trail of Wolseley across the desert from Korosko, the base of operations will be changed to Suakim [illegible] the route taken directly west to the Nile. The government of Italy has signified its willingness to cooperate with England [illegible]. The news [illegible] having been confirmed, nothing [illegible].

At present General Wolseley has less than 6,000 British troops in Soudan. Of these Gen. Stewart has about 800, Gen. Earle has [illegible] men with him and the remainder are with General Wolseley or scattered among the various small detachments and garrisons in the vicinity of the present seat of war. They are entirely surrounded by the Arab forces of Osman Digna and other officers of El Mahdi, who has made his headquarters at Khartoum. Should Wolseley decide to move upon the latter city at once, there would be grave danger of failure, as Khartoum has been strongly fortified by El Mahdi, and is now said to be well nigh impregnable to ordinary assault. Before moving upon Khartoum the Arab stronghold at Metemneh must be stormed, a venture that cannot but result in considerable loss to the British, whether successful or not. This accomplished, the little army can be concentrated on the Nile and the march to El Mahdi's stronghold begun.

It will take several weeks to accomplish this, and by prompt action on the part of the government the efforts of General Wolseley may be seconded by the forward movement of the garrisons of Lower Egypt to the front. There are now at Cairo about 3500 troops, and 1000 at Alexandria. They could be taken to Suakim and engage the attention of the annoying bands of Osman Digna while Wolseley invested Khartoum and until the reinforcements from England and India reached the scene of action. With the new forces, at the head of 25,000 British soldiers, the bravery and fanaticism of El Mahdi's hordes would avail but little, and the Soudan soon be subjected to English rule. This seems to be the plan of action decided upon. In the meantime the Arab tribes are constantly joining the rebels and rendering the English general's task so much the harder by every day's delay.

"It is widespread," says the [illegible] Oregonian, "that President Cleveland will show no mercy to those republican office-holders who want to be office-holders always, who were so zealous last fall to industriously circulate and gloat upon the Halpin scandal. He is quite right, too. Not one of them who rolled the dirty slander as a sweet morsel under his tongue should be allowed to remain in any place of trust, honor or profit." We sincerely hope he will show republican office-holders no mercy, whether they are among those who spoke of his conduct towards Maria Halpin, or not. But why say it was a "dirty slander" to speak of it? Is it not true that Grover Cleveland seduced a woman named Maria Halpin? Or, if anybody prefers the euphemism, is it not true that he formed "an irregular connection" with a woman of that name? And did he not become the father by her of an illegitimate son, and then refuse the woman the reparation of marriage? If these things are true, where does the "slander" come in? Or is it assumed that these offences are made virtues by Cleveland's election to the presidency? If not, where does the slander come in? A slander is a false story, and a true story is not a slander.

The oldest newspaper in the world is the Journal of Peking, established in 911 and issued regularly since 1351. It has recently undergone a thorough change, and is now published in three editions. The first, which is called the King Pao (Journal of the Inhabitants), and printed on yellow paper, is the official organ of the Chinese empire. The second edition, Chane Pao (Commercial Journal), also printed on yellow paper, publishes the commercial news. The third issue, the Pitan Pao (Provincial Journal), which appears on red paper, prints extracts from the two first-named newspapers.

Though the Portland school district is to have the right to increase its debt to $100,000, it does not follow that the money should be borrowed up to the full limit and expended in completion in expensive style of the new school building on Morrison street. It will be enough if that building be sufficiently completed to answer present needs, and the work should be done in a plain and durable manner, without unnecessary expense for ornament and superfluities. It is sound policy to put the building in order so that school may be kept in it, and this probably can be done for about $25,000.

There is said now to be some probability that the river and harbor bill will not become a law. But the interest of the south in it is so great that there is little to risk in predicting that it will be forced through. Of the $12,000,000 reported in the bill about $7,000,000 will go to the "solid south," whose sixteen states will get an average of $440,000 each, while the amount for the other states and territories is an average of $250,000 each, with nothing assigned to Dakota, Montana or Washington. There is nothing mean or stingy about the south when it wants to treat itself right.

Should the bill to refund to the states the direct war tax levied by the acts of 1861 and 1862 pass congress, Oregon will get $[illegible],511. The bill has been reported by the house committee on claims.

VALUED POLICIES AND INCENDIARISM

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

The effect of this bill seems not to be fairly understood by our legislators. It practically offers a premium for incendiarism and if it becomes a law cannot fail to largely increase the present alarming number of incendiary fires in Oregon. [illegible] states have attempted the passage of a similar bill. In one [illegible] thirty [illegible] insurance companies [illegible].

At a meeting of the Compact Association of the northwest, which comprises all of the fire insurance companies authorized to do business in Oregon, [illegible] held today in San Francisco the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, Unanimously by the representatives of fire insurance companies doing business in Oregon, that if house valued policy bill No. [illegible] shall become a law [illegible] thereby following the course [illegible] companies transacting their business under similar circumstances.

As a matter of equity the state never should permit the owner of property to make or enforce a contract whereby he is to be indemnified for all loss or damage to that property by fire, because such a thing [illegible] with irresponsible [illegible]. [illegible] willing to let it burn [illegible] are hard and [illegible] the property.

It is against public policy that the owner or occupant [illegible] interest in its safety from fire [illegible] the owner or occupant that the property should [illegible].

[illegible] beyond all possibility of question [illegible] especially in times like these, first breed in [illegible]. The state practically offers immunity to the criminal it has bred by shutting out proof of the main fact that would establish a criminal motive. The state says there was no over-in[illegible]

[illegible] NILES,

The chance concoctions of ignorant men have sometimes brought discredit not only on their own worthless medicines that deserve no credit, but sometimes, with much injustice, on really reliable preparations. So far as prices are concerned, will soon be heard at our well known establishment, where we have now on hand, at the least calculation, an overstock of

$30,000 WORTH

Of Staple and Fancy Goods that must be disposed of in some manner, to make room for constantly increasing arrivals from Europe and the East. Our orders, long since placed with the manufacturers, cannot be countermanded, and we have determined to the surplus that we had laid in for a big holiday trade, and dispose of everything that adorns our counters at prices that cannot be equaled even at the place of manufacture.

NOW IS THE TIME

Is the time for the economical and the prudent to literally buy themselves rich. For a small amount of money cart-loads of goods can be obtained of us, from Elegant Gold Band China Dinner and Tea Sets to the humble but necessary Boston Bean Pot.

SPACE FORBIDS

The enumeration of even a small fraction of the ornamental, useful and necessary articles we daily offer for public inspection, but we have skilled and attentive attendants, who will take pleasure in pointing out every feature of interest, and the goods will speak for themselves, each bearing its own cost mark in plain figures.

THIS OPPORTUNITY

Will not occur again perhaps for years, and a word to the wise from one behind the scenes should not go unheeded. We mean pure and unalloyed business, and no buncombe is in our speech.

OUR OVERSTOCK

Must be disposed of in a limited period of time, and though our figures will paralyze the trade of our competitors, still we are paddling our own canoe, which now is being propelled for our own and the public's benefit.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

[illegible] A cup of [illegible] yesterday [illegible] The subject under discussion was hard times [illegible] "When I arrived there [illegible] twenty-five cents." This statement was received with a chorus of [illegible] and when quiet was restored the gentleman assured them that every word was true. He declared that after he arrived in San Francisco he spent all of his money except a [illegible] and as he had [illegible] he was not anxious to hunt work. There was a coffee stand on Market street, [illegible] where a good cup of coffee and two doughnuts could be bought for five cents. He used to visit the stand, hand the man the twenty-five-cent piece and get two short bits in change. Then he would go to any hotel bar room, or ask any person he met on the street to give him a two-bit piece for his two short bits. It was seldom that a person asked would refuse the accommodation, and he would go back to the stand and get another meal, repeating the exchange operation every time he "dined." The number of meals per day were limited only to his disposition to ask for change. He kept this up for two weeks and was growing fat on the diet, when one day a man without the fear of future punishment in his heart, rung in a counterfeit two-bit piece on him and the stake was dough.

NEW SITE FOR THE INDIAN SCHOOL.—The Salem Statesman has the following concerning the proposed relocation of the government training school for Indians: "The movement has been on foot for a long time. Sufficient money has been raised to buy 177 acres of land from the estate of the late I. R. Moores, about four miles north of Salem, and the deeds have been perfected and sent to the secretary of the interior, C. B. Moores doing this part of the work. A few days ago parties in this city received a telegram from Senator J. N. Dolph stating that the secretary of the interior had decided upon Salem as the place for the relocation of the school. Soon after a telegram was received instructing parties to introduce a joint resolution into the legislature giving the United States right to buy the land. This was done on Monday by Senator Voorhees, and the resolution passed both houses of the legislature, which fact was telegraphed to Washington, and official announcement made by mail. The United States requires the state to relinquish all right to the land, as in the building of a fort, and any crime thereafter committed on such land is tried in the U. S. court. It is expected that the authorities will receive instructions to remove the school in a few days. This will be a good thing for Salem, for a building costing a large sum of money will be constructed, and $25,000 or $50,000 per year spent in the running expenses of the institution."

A RAILROAD BOOMERANG.—Last month, three weeks after the O. R. & N. Co.'s blockade was raised, the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, a paper friendly to the Northern Pacific, published a three-column letter, purporting to have been written from Echo, Umatilla county, censuring various officers and trackmen of the O. R. & N. for want of efficiency in clearing the track. The letter was devoted mainly to airing petty quarrels between subordinate employes, and the writer neglected entirely to state the principal cause of the blockade, viz: The most violent snowstorm ever known on the coast—sixteen days of snowing, blowing and drifting. It was probably published to show the public that the Northern Pacific were not to blame for the inability to get trains from St. Paul to Portland. But it had a far different effect. The publication at so late a date left the impression on the traveling public that the Northern Pacific's western division was still blockaded, though, in fact, traffic was not interrupted on their line for a single day. So a great many people who would ordinarily have come by the Northern took the Short Line. Yesterday, the "kicking" road delivered two emigrants to the O. R. & N. at Wallula Junction, while the Short Line delivered thirteen at Umatilla.

IMPROVING THE CŒUR D'ALENE RIVER.—A Washington special of the 6th inst. to the St. Paul Pioneer Press says: W. A. Jones, major of engineers, after an examination of Cœur d'Alene lake and river and St. Joseph's river, reports to the war department that in his judgment congress should give $3000 for the clearing of both rivers of snags and deepening a bar in the lake at the mouth of the Cœur d'Alene. He says: "The river has some very marked characteristics. Below the Mission it is like a magnificent canal with a width varying between 100 and 150 feet, and a tolerably uniform depth of about thirty feet over the greater part of said width. Above the mission it is an ordinary mountain stream, shallow and with great velocity of current. It approaches the mission with considerable velocity, and passes suddenly into the deep water portion with a sudden and almost total loss of velocity. There are now three steamers on these waters, one a large, fine one, and more will soon be built. A considerable shipment of gold is now made, and as the forests about the headwaters of the St. Joseph's river are very extensive and rich in magnificent specimens of red and white pine, cedar, red and white fir and tamarack, there will [illegible] rapid development of this navigation in the near future."

THE NEW WITNESS FEE BILL.—The bill lately passed by the legislature abolishing witness fees in criminal cases tried in justices' courts is causing considerable comment. Many consider it unconstitutional, and others think it not the right means to reach the end desired. Article 18 of the Constitution of Oregon reads as follows: "Private property shall not be taken for public use, nor the particular services of any man be demanded without just compensation, nor, except in case of the state, without such compensation first assessed and tendered." It is more than likely that people will refuse to leave their business to attend criminal trials for one or more days without compensation. They will then be yanked before the court for contempt or some such thing and then they will bring a suit to recover compensation. In view of the fact that the fees of justices in this county last year amounted to $19,7[illegible], while the witness fees amounted to only $7[illegible], it would seem as if the new law had struck at the branches instead of the roots of the abuse. It may be that taking away the witness fees will lessen the number of cases tried, but it is the opinion of many that abolishing some of the justice courts would have been more beneficial.

LEWIS' DEFENSE.—C. C. Lewis, of Rockwood, Oregon, who was examined a few days ago before U. S. Commissioner Woodward in this city and held to answer upon a charge of illegal whisky selling, says his arrest was caused by spite on the part of the complaining witness, Sam Winn, a sailor boarding house runner. According to Lewis' statement Winn owed him about $40 for groceries, for which he was obliged to sue, and recovered judgment. Then Winn made complaint against him for selling whisky without a government license, which Lewis denies and declares he will be able to prove when the case comes up for trial. Winn testified at the examination of Lewis that he had bought whisky and beer of the latter and of his wife. Now, Lewis says his wife died in Seattle some years ago and was never in Oregon, and that Winn has not been in his store for three years. It remains for the court to decide which one of these men's statements is to be believed.

WOMEN IN JAIL.—Two women were arrested yesterday by the police and passed last night in the city jail. One of them was the notorious Mrs. Smith, who has no occupation whatever but to roam about the streets, begging her whisky in saloons and living upon the scraps, scarcely to be called food, which are set out upon the bars as "free lunch." There is no man, however beastly he may have become, who has fallen so low as this poor inebriated specimen of womanhood, for not even men the most depraved will associate with her. Her companion in the jail, Lizzie Beasly, a woman of the street, is no less debased, although morally instead of physically. For the class of miserable creatures to which the former belongs the state should long ere this have furnished an asylum; for the latter, the result of a social evil as old as the world, even the wisest and best of men have failed in devising a remedy.

SUIT ON A NOTE.—James Talcott has commenced suit against [illegible] and J. W. Mellish in the state circuit court to recover on a promissory note. On April 1 [suggestive date], 1884, defendants made and delivered to plaintiff, for a valuable consideration, a promissory note for $1,09[illegible] 50, payable four months after date. Plaintiff is the owner and holder of said note, which is long past due, and has not been paid. Wherefore he asks judgment for the above sum with interest, and also $100 in addition as attorneys' fees. [illegible] Pipinger, Mallory & Simon are attorneys for plaintiff.

INDICTED FOR STEALING.—The grand jury yesterday indicted the two boys Brandstetter and Woodward for the larceny of a small sum of money from the cabin of a wood sawyer in the north end of the city. The little fellows are only nine or ten years of age, and it is difficult to imagine what will be done with them if they are convicted. James Smith was also indicted for stealing a coat belonging to one Hass from the residence of Mr. Adkin.

[illegible] While we are having the [illegible] weather in the valley, there has been [illegible] snow fall east of the Cascades. A gentleman who came down from [illegible] says [illegible] snow at the summit [illegible] such a [illegible] snow [illegible] There was some [illegible] but as there were no [illegible] they had little difficulty in keeping [illegible]

LOST HIS LUNCH.—Tom Harris, the night engineer of the Stark street ferryboat, carries his lunch out at night and a count [illegible] is too [illegible] well calculated to make a man feel cheerful along about the gloomy hour. About 11 o'clock the other night Tom cast his eye upon one of the cylinders [illegible] have the food [illegible] and warm by the time he was ready to eat. When the boat made her last trip he climbed gaily down from the pilothouse into the engine room and caught up the dinner bucket with a swinging motion of his arm. At that instant an indescribable look came over his face, and emphatic words fell from his lips as he snatched off the cover of the pail. It was empty. Some one had got a ride across the river and a square meal, all for five cents. It is not safe for even Tom's friends to go in the engine room at night now.

PRIZE FOR CLAY PIGEON SHOOTING.—There is now on exhibition at Henrichsen & Greenberg's a diamond badge to be competed for at clay pigeons, for the championship of the northwest. The contest will take place some time during this month, and will be free for all actual residents of the Pacific northwest. The winner will be subject to challenge at any time within six months from date of first contest, the challenging party to deposit $100 against the badge, and the winner of the second contest to take the money and badge. The shooting to be at fifteen single clay pigeons at eighteen yards rise, and five pair of doubles at fifteen yards. About twenty of our crack shots have already signified their intention of entering, and an exciting contest may be looked for.

MINING COMPANY INCORPORATED.—Articles incorporating the Idaho Copper Mining Company were filed in the office of the county clerk yesterday. The incorporators are E. H. Mix, C. D. Bates and J. L. Hall. The business in which they propose to engage is to locate, own, buy, lease and operate mines and mining claims of gold, silver and copper, to construct, own and operate mills, machinery and smelting works, and water rights, flumes, ditches, etc. The principal office shall be in Portland, the capital stock $200,000, in shares of $1 each.

UTILIZING DEAD ANIMALS.—Those stockmen of Eastern Oregon who lost horses and cows during the recent storm, have a way of saving a little something in value from the total loss if they desire to be economical. Besides the hides of the cattle, there are their tails and the manes and tails of the horses, for which a good price can be obtained. Considerable curled hair is used here for general upholstery purposes, and no doubt all the manes and tails that could be collected can be easily disposed of.

SUIT TO RECOVER BALANCE.—Charles Metter [illegible] commenced suit against Theodore and Louis Nicolai in the state circuit court yesterday, to recover the sum of $661 20, alleged to be due on a lot of lumber. Plaintiff, while a partner with one J. B. Teller in the business of manufacturing and selling lumber, furnished Messrs. Nicolai with lumber to the value of $21[illegible] and on this bill only $1755 48 has been paid. Feller assigned all his interest in said account to McCormick, who brings suit to recover the alleged unpaid balance of $661 20.

BOARDING CITY PRISONERS.—The contract for supplying the prisoners in the city jail with meals has been let to Mr. Haas of the Burton house for [illegible] cents per meal. This is a quarter of a cent less than was paid last year, and is cheap indeed. As Mr. Haas was the only bidder he might have charged more just as well as not, and is now probably kicking himself that he did not contract to supply truffled turkey and champagne for the poor prisoners at $5 per meal.

NO FIRE.—An alarm from box 4 about noon yesterday brought the fire department and several hundred citizens out to the south end of Third street in a hurry, and created considerable commotion in that quiet part of the city. No cause for all the uproar could be discovered for some time, but at last it was ascertained that a chimney flue had blazed out, and the owner, instead of throwing a handful of salt in his stove, had run off and turned in an alarm. No one was hurt, no damage, no fire.

NAME CHANGED.—Yesterday the name of the new coasting steamer Emma Hume was changed to the Alliance. She will sail for San Francisco Saturday or Sunday. It is the intention of her purchasers, Capt. James McKinnie and others to send her on a whaling expedition in connection with the ship Northern Light. The ship will carry fuel for the steamer and the steamer will tow the ship whenever necessary.

WAS IT INTENTIONAL?—The work of frescoing the council chamber has just been completed, and the room presents a very brilliant appearance. Above the moulding which surrounds the room some three feet above the floor is painted something which looks like a continuous row of dunce's caps. Of course it means no harm, but Frank Dekum is such a joker that you can't tell.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A BASKET.—At the Grand Army basket social on Friday evening a lady will be present with a basket which accompanied her during three years' active service as an army nurse in the Union armies. She will relate some of the incidents in which the basket figured, after which it will be sold at auction.

DRUGGISTS ORGANIZE.—Last night the retail druggists of Portland and East Portland effected a permanent organization by the election of the following officers: President, J. A. Child; vice president, S. A. Nepprich; secretary, W. Clarke; treasurer, C. F. Sitton; executive committee, William Welch, J. A. Breck and F. Byerly.

THE FULL PENALTY.—John C. Barnes, a married man convicted of criminal assault on his half sister, an 8-year-old girl, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Smith to twenty years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. He got all the law allowed, which was none too much.

CHANGES.—Frank Gilbert, lately purser on the Occident, goes to the Snake river in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co., while Fred Saylor, lately freight clerk on the Astoria boats, goes on the Occident.

THE STAGE.

NEW TIVOLI THEATER.—Richard Clinton has leased this building for a long term, and under his management it will probably resume its former popularity. He has closed the Elite permanently and forsaken the variety business entirely, and will resume his former position in the regular dramatic profession. He will run the Tivoli as a strictly legitimate theater, playing nothing but combinations and standard dramas. A large force of carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc., have been at work transforming the interior into a perfect opera house. The old gallery has been removed, and a beautifully-proportioned balcony circle substituted, the stage and scenery improved, as well as the ventilation and acoustics. The entire auditorium will be finished in white and gold, and the seating capacity has been enlarged to such an extent as to allow the adoption of a low scale of prices, viz: dress circle, 35 cents; orchestra, 25 cents; parquette, 15 cents. The well-known comedian John S. Langrishe and his entire dramatic company have been secured for the opening, which takes place next Saturday night.

THE CASINO.—"The Chimes of Normandy" evidently will never grow old in Portland, if one can judge by the crowded houses this week at the Casino. Last night's house was equal to the opening night. While Miss Winston cannot look the part of Germaine, her naive acting more than makes up for it, and the splendid vocalization of the introduced song, "Tell Me, My Heart," has established for her a still higher reputation as an artist. Miss King does Serpolette as well as one would care to see it.

THE NEW MARKET.—Katie Putnam returns from Salem to-morrow, and reopens at the New Market in Joaquin Miller's drama "[illegible] Sunflower."

THE EAST SIDE.

TAX LEVY COMPLETED

Recorder Gillespie, who has been diligently engaged since the assessment of the common council [illegible] the tax levy of six mills on the city assessment roll for 1885, completed his labors yesterday, and the roll will be delivered to Treasurer Wel[illegible] for collection. The valuation of property and the amount of the tax levy is shown in the following:

[illegible]

The total assessment is some $3000 [illegible] the [illegible] assessed upon the county roll, the increase being entirely due to the scrutiny of the recorder exercised by virtue of the authority vested in him to supply omissions. From three sources he was enabled to add [illegible] to valuations, to wit: The personal property of the [illegible] R. R. Co., which was valued at [illegible] on the county roll, was raised to $21[illegible], being an increase of $143,380; other personal property found footed up $36,000, and real estate to the value of $26,400 was also found to have been omitted. The discovery of the real estate omissions came about in a peculiar manner and through an entirely unexpected source. The petition of the property owners urging the legislature to adopt a property qualification for voters came into the possession of the recorder, and comparing the signatures with the assessment roll, he discovered that a number of names subscribed to the former did not appear on the latter, and forthwith hunted up the records in the county clerk's office, found descriptions of the property they represented, and made the additions accordingly. How very fitting that these scrupulous property owners should require a voter to own property upon which "he paid a tax."

A WICKED WAITER.

A day or two since Sol. Sherbeck, a waiter who has brought himself into disrepute in Portland by his dissipated habits, made application for employment to A. T. Workman, of the Home restaurant, pleading that he wished to forsake his evil associations and promising to "do the right thing in the future." More through consideration of charity than anything else, Mr. Workman consented to give him "the chance" he sought, with promise of a partnership if he proved his sincerity. He proved this in a manner peculiar to himself the following day. Furnishing a meal to one of his friends free of charge, Workman, upon the latter's departure, objected to the proceeding in a not unkindly manner, but was met, to his surprise, by a volley of vile epithets. Workman at once ordered him from the house, when he retaliated by a knockdown, following it up by several blows administered while his opponent was on the floor. For this performance Workman caused his arraignment before Justice Simpson on the charge of assault and battery, when, the above facts being proven, he was fined $5 and costs. Defendant testified that complainant struck him first with a chair, but no wound or witness was produced to confirm such testimony. He then sought satisfaction through a similar charge, preferred against Workman, in the same court. The latter demanded a jury trial, which came off yesterday and resulted in his acquittal, although Sherbeck swore that Workman first attacked him with a chair, which was corroborated by some other testimony. A second charge against Sherbeck, for using abusive and obscene language and disturbing the peace, preferred by Workman in recorder's court, was quickly disposed of by defendant pleading guilty and paying the $5 fine imposed. But the end is still not yet, as Sherbeck has preferred a counter charge to the latter against Workman, the trial being set for 10 o'clock this morning. As the parties evince a desire to continue the trouble, it would now be in order for each to prefer a charge of perjury against the other, as each has sworn differently. Sherbeck denies the accusation that he was feeding his friends free of charge, and says the "friends" referred to was simply the little girl of the hotel proprietor.

"THE EARLY BIRD," ETC.

About 6 o'clock yesterday morning W. Braun of the Campy restaurant, bundled a pair of unpaired gaiters in a scrap of paper preparatory to taking them to the cobbler's for repairs, and left them temporarily on the counter while he waited on a customer. During his absence an early bird seeking what it might devour, swooped down on them and carried off the prey before Braun had a chance to see the color of its plumage. About the same time a strip of carpet placed in front of Gilson's barber shop, opposite, during the morning clean up mysteriously disappeared and doubtless went the same way as Braun's [illegible].

NOTES.

The Galaxy social last evening was largely attended and delightful in every respect.

A paper balloon, some six feet long and four feet wide, was sent a-flying by the railroad employes at Albina yesterday.

S. R. Harrington is suffering with a bruised shin, the result of a miscalculation in stepping from the roadway to the sidewalk.

M. A. Johnson, sexton of Lone Fir cemetery, is canvassing for subscriptions to lay a two-plank sidewalk from Twelfth street out. A good move.

The revival continues at the B[illegible] church with gratifying results. The rite of baptism was administered to recent converts Tuesday evening.

T. J. Matlock has withdrawn from the firm of Matlock, McGuire & Co., and the firm has now become simply "Logan & McGuire." Better luck to 'em.

Two pistol shots which rent the air about 10:30 Monday night were fired by Chas. Lindberg, residing on Fifth street, between O and P, at an imaginary burglar.

The E. P. charter bill, with its "modern improvements," has passed the house, received its preliminary readings in the senate, and referred to the senators from Multnomah.

In yesterday's report of the senate proceedings, it stated Story's house bill, establishing a paid fire department in East Portland, passed. The italicised word should have been omitted.

Evening before last a large section of the ceiling plaster fell suddenly in the kitchen back of Dickenbach's saloon, on I street, Mrs. Dickenbach, with a lighted lamp in hand, narrowly escaping the falling debris.

Mrs. Dr. S. Smith, Mrs. Hersha, Mrs. Boeschen and Mrs. Kenworthy took the morning train for Salem yesterday as delegates from the W. C. T. U. to the state temperance alliance. Mrs. Kenworthy attended the reception of Mrs. Gov. Moody in the evening.

CŒUR D'ALENE.

Endorsement of the Board of Trade to the Project for the Construction of a Wagon Road into the Mines

Representatives of the Cœur d'Alene Steam Navigation Company are now canvassing among the merchants of this city for subscriptions to aid in the building of a substantial and much needed wagon road into the Cœur d'Alene mines, urging that the project must eventually accrue to the benefit of this city. The project was endorsed at the last meeting of the board of trade by the adoption of the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, The Cœur d'Alene Steam Navigation Company is about to undertake the construction of a road from Kingston to Beaver City in the Cœur d'Alene mines, the same being over the line of the North Fork trail, and FREIGHTS—The charter of the Undaunted for wheat via Tacoma was canceled some time ago and she will load coal at Nanaimo. [illegible] charter is reported from San Francisco to-day—the first for wheat in some time.

WHEAT—Market firm, with a fair inquiry reported in the interior at full prices. Receipts are steadily fair but largely for mill or shipping account. Advices to-day report nothing of new interest.

The aggregate supply of wheat in sight in the United States (exclusive of California and Oregon) and Canada February 4 was 42 653 [illegible] bushels and that of corn 6 338 100 bushels—against on the preceding weekly exhibit an aggregate of 42,5[illegible] bushels wheat and 5,411,500 bushels corn and a year ago an aggregate of 32,78[illegible] bushels wheat and 12 770,800 bushels corn.

"In figuring on the visible wheat supply" said a St Louis trader "you must remember that the stock of flour in this country is 3 000 000 barrels less than last year. That is about 15 000 000 bus. So you see that the visible supply is actually 7 000 000 bus less than last year although the footings show 8 000,000 bus more. Another thing. In figuring on the consumptive wants of this country you want to make the average per capita more than 5 bus per annum. In 1881 it was 6 5[illegible] bus and only once in ten years has it been less than 5½ bus. With cheap bread this year s consumption has undoubtedly increased hugely and the average should not be placed below 6 [illegible] bus at the lowest. With a population of 55 000 000 this would bring the country s consumptive requirements up to 357,500,000 bus."

POTATOES—A better market for choice at San Francisco causes better prices to be paid here and desirable qualities now bring 30@35c.

ONIONS—Offerings only moderate but the market is improving.

BUTTER—California roll sold at 2[illegible]@30c per steamer. Local sorts without change.

POULTRY—Better demand for chickens and geese. Chickens sold up to $5 geese $8@10.

The Merchandise Market.

As compared with the previous week the one just passing has been an active one. In fact trade is very satisfactory for the time of year leaving out of consideration the very dull winter that is now well behind us. City jobbers are increasing stocks as may be seen from our memoranda of importations to-day. Arrivals are more bulky, presenting the fact that recent purchases in other markets have been heavier. A very free selling of produce is placing new money in the country which in large part returns to pay for goods bought here. Very few changes are to be noted in our price current but there is a well defined firmness in most articles. The mercantile community are looking about for spring trade and feel that better times are coming. San Francisco merchants are more hopeful and eastern centers are enjoying rather better business.

The San Francisco Commercial News of last Friday says: Prices of all descriptions of merchandise are more steady and there is a manifest tendency toward a higher range of values in many lines of goods. The week under review has been rather quiet trade moderately fair for the season but with no new features developed worthy of special mention. Coffee has been in demand and the old stock of Salvador amounting to about 1000 bags has been disposed of to the local trade within the range of [illegible]@10c. There has been some inquiry but no transactions are reported for overland account. In teas there is nothing doing beyond supplying the regular trade wants at rates long current; prices are quite firm however in sympathy with the foreign and eastern markets and an upward movement is anticipated at an early day. China rice has moved steadily upward in price and is now firm at $4 40@4 45 with quite an active demand; the stock on hand is limited and in few hands. No 1 and 2 are steady at quotations. Hawaiian is fairly active with sales of 1000 bags reported sold to the local trade at 4⅝c cash and 5c time. Four carloads were recently shipped to Utah and the territories which reduces the stock on hand to rather narrow limits. Importers of French goods report the market well stocked with standard and fancy goods by late free arrivals but no life or activity to trade. French claret is offered at $65 per cask on the wharf; absinthe is quoted at $14@14 [illegible] per doz; castile soap is slow of sale; olive oil is lower; sardines are offered at about the rates quoted in eastern markets. Trade in canned salmon is not particularly active, all orders being confined to jobbing limits; the aggregate of daily sales however makes a good showing, the bulk of which are for the western and southern states where there is a steady growing demand; prices are without material change. For all varieties of standard canned fruits there is a fairly active demand with a gradual hardening tendency in prices; dealers report the business of the past month as having been unusually good though but little money was made as competition was strong and prices ruled low. The Pacific Iron and Nail Company has issued a revised list for nails advancing the price of the local manufactured article to $3 per keg. The prices at Pittsburg price is $ 2[illegible] and the new tariff rate [illegible] being $1 per keg, brings the price of eastern nails up to $3 5[illegible] laid down here. There is some inquiry for wheat bags June delivery at [illegible]c and July at [illegible]c. Spot quiet at [illegible]. High test kerosene up to [illegible]c.

The Senate Discusses the Portland Levee Bill at Length

The House Passes Reed's Senate Bill Providing for a State Pilot Boat—The Senatorial Situation Unchanged.

SALEM, Feb 11.—In the senate the whole afternoon was taken up by consideration of the Portland levee bill, the report of the railroad committee upon it being the particular matter in hand. Two reports were submitted, that of the majority being favorable to the passage of the bill with an amendment granting the levee to Reid and his associates upon their payment to the city of the $2500 paid by it to Stephenson [illegible] and whatever other sums the city had expended in or upon the levee. Other amendments were slight, relating only to description of the property.

Miller of Josephine stood alone in the minority opposing the bill in a report of which the following is a summary:

First—The promoters of the bill give no information as to the capital invested or the persons responsible.

Second—The company owning the narrow gauge, while welcoming any honest genuine undertaking to build this part of the road, has no connection with or knowledge of this company nor can it obtain information it has asked for on that head.

Third—Circumstances are such as to make it probable that this is a mere speculation to make profit to its promoters out of the temporary embarrassment of the company interested.

Fourth—Or there is reason to believe that some of these promoters have before been connected in similar schemes whereby benefits intended to aid railroad enterprises have been turned to their own profit.

Fifth—There is great danger that the benefits asked for may be used in this way and so add to the cost of the extension.

Sixth—The extension must be built anyhow by parties in interest and without any grant of levee ground.

A LONG DEBATE

Consideration of the minority report was postponed and the bill as reported by the majority taken up.

Simon moved to strike out the amendment quoted above and to put in its place a provision that Reid and his associates pay to the city whatever sum shall be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be the value of the interest of the city of Portland in the premises hereby granted. A general discussion followed. Simon stood up for the right of the city in the levee which he declared worth $70 000.

Bilyeu said his understanding was that Coffin granted the levee to the public and not to the city of Portland and he opposed Simon s proposition on its theory of the right of the city in the property.

Dorris thought the city sufficiently guarded by the provisions of the bill as it stood.

Simon pointed out that the attorney for the company which asked for the levee and several of its lobbyists had appeared before the committee but not one could name the stockholders in the company.

Hare said he was disposed to oppose Simon s amendment because if it prevailed there might be interminable lawsuits and progress of the company stopped.

Simon asked if the city does not own this property then why does the legislature want to pay $2500 to the city of Portland. The Oregonian railroad company was required to give $10 000 bonds but have never done so. Why so much secrecy in this matter? Who are the directors? Who beside William Reid is interested in this matter?

Bilyeu said in regard to the $2500 that the city of Portland paid that sum for a ferry license and not for the levee. When the matter goes into court if Simon's amendment prevails the company must go into court admitting right to the title of the city.

Simon denied that this $2500 was for the ferry franchise; no such thing was ever done.

Miller believed the levee belonged to the public and if it was an honest company who wanted it the public would willingly grant it the levee. Who are the parties who intend building this road? He could not find out. If they can slip in and get hold of this levee, then when any other company has to build the road the owners would say "our price is so much."

Hare would not vote for this bill if there was a job in it. If Portland had no title in this land there is nothing to condemn. If it is Portland s private property then the company cannot take the property without paying for it.

Pennington could not see the necessity of this legislation. He believed there was nothing more than getting possession of this property for speculative purposes.

Bilyeu said articles of incorporation were on file in the secretary of state s office and can be seen at any time. It made no difference to him who built the road so it was built and he did not care how much the railroads cinched each other.

Haines thought the amendment ought not to pass.

Lee did not propose to discuss the question. There was a difference as to who owned the property. He believed that Stephen Coffin and Colonel Chapman, when they said they granted this to the public, told the truth. Four years ago his bill passed over the governor s veto but a part of the bill never came to light.

Hirsch was spoken to by two members of the company who agreed to pay $70 000 for the levee and now only want to pay the city $2500. What has become of the other $17 500? He would like to be enlightened.

Dorris would not vote for this measure if the city could not get paid for this property. The bill provided $2500 for what was paid out by the city and did not bar the city from getting more for the property if so awarded by a jury.

Hare said that if Portland has expended money in grading the levee it ought to be reimbursed.

Weatherford believed if the public levee belonged to the state that the legislature was the only authority to regulate the matter. If it belongs to the city then the bill was a nullity. He thought $2,500 an equitable compensation to the city for money paid out.

Dorris could not see the use for this special law when there was a general law covering this case.

Hare was in favor of the amendment. If Portland has any rights he wanted them recognized but he did not believe the city owned the property.

Lee said the gentleman who made the amendment [illegible] did so very blandly and had he not talked so long it would have been all right but it looks as though there were some ulterior motive therefor. He (Lee) was no lawyer but this suit might last over the time limited by the bill.

Dorris said this was specially objectionable as it might defeat the bill.

The senate adjourned pending discussion.
